

Digital Design Intern:

Edible Tampa Bay is a quarterly print and online publication that focuses on seasonal, sustainable and local foods — what to eat, where to find it, how to make it, and who is growing it. We're a member of Edible Communities, which lists 90 publications nationwide, and is the largest media organization devoted to telling the stories and supporting the efforts of the farmers, chefs, food artisans, fishermen, vintners, and home cooks who feed us.

The digital/social media intern should be plugged into the Tampa Bay food scene, and enjoy trying new eateries and sharing the fun. We're looking for someone with photography skills and some writing experience. Facility with Instagram and knowledge of Wordpress is preferred. You need to be a self-starter who works independently, but who maintains close communication with the managing editor.

Job description:

- * Assist in developing, growing and maintaining Edible Tampa Bay's social media presence
- * Create social media calendar
- * Craft well-written and appropriate posts 2-3 times/week
- * Assist in collecting items for the online events calendar
- * Create Edible Tampa Bay newsletter for Flodesk (once/month)
